

GIRL'S STORY MAY LAND RICH MAN IN JAIL

Laura Leon, a very striking Mexican girl, told a very pretty love story concerning herself and Donald Scott, wealthy mine owner, to the federal authorities, but her story may land Scott in jail.

Through an interpreter she told how she and the wealthy American fought their way out of the war-tossed republic on the south and how they lived together as man and wife all through the trip.

"And," she added, her cheeks turning pink, "we're going to be married."

But Scott, unfortunately for him in view of the story told by the girl, can't get out of it that way. He happens to possess a wife already.

Scott and the young Mexican girl were arrested three nights ago by federal agents. He told a story of platonic love; of how he merely befriended the girl and that there was nothing improper in their relations. But her story may damn him.

He will be given a hearing under the Mann white slave charge before Commissioner Mason this morning. He is held under $5,000 bonds.
